

COVID-19 Coronavirus related videos within China. (Continued)

Here's a bunch more videos taken during the COVID-19 coronavirus outbreak in China during the 2020 CNY holiday and going into February of that year. These videos are very interesting. Please check them out. They all tend to be short, but since there are so many... around 20... they might take some time to load.

So...

Keep reloading as necessary to collect the videos. If you are watching on a computer put this in a separate tab and allow it to load at it's own speed. Depending where you live it might take up to an half hour, though most people shouldn't have to wait nearly so long.

Sorry about this.

Video 1 – Breaking Quarantine

China is an enormous nation. There are all kinds of people in it. No matter how serious the emergency, there will be that 1% of Jack-Offs that think that the rules do not apply to them and they can do as they please. When this happens, the police need to step in and isolate the malcontents. Because all it takes is but one person and he can infect three hundred others in a matter of hours, and then suddenly the entire city starts to collapse.

Here we have a Jack-ass trying to break through a quarantine check point. These road-blocks are everywhere and you must obey them. Some are set up by local communities. Some by local police. Some by military, and some by local industry. If you try to run through, you will be stopped. You will be apprehended, and you will go to prison.

Video 2 – Breaking Quarantine 2

Here's another one. This is a checkpoint at a highway. It's been my experience that these checkpoints are at every toll booth and at every road-side rest area. You must obey them.

They are staffed by police, traffic police and military. You do not mess around. This is a serious, and very serious illness and containment is crucial.

Video 3 – Breaking Quarantine 3

Here's another example of a person trying to break quarantine. You can see that not only is he not obeying the check-point, but he is taking it on himself to be a one-man wrecking-crew and starts to tear apart the entire road-block setup.

Video 4 – Shutting down a road-block

All things end. Now certain areas are easing up on their quarantine restrictions. Thus, it means that things are starting to return to normal in certain areas. Here we have a video of a policeman shutting down one of the quarantine roadblocks.

Video 5 – Collapse 1

Medical worker collapses or almost collapses in a hospital. This is beginning to become rather common in the various hospitals that work with this virus. It's a very serious and lethal viral agent and every care must be taken to control it.

I have all sorts of videos about the dressing and undressing procedures in this highly lethal environment. But you know, if you accidentally touch an infected article of clothing during the undressing procedure, you too could become infected.

Video 6 – Collapse 2

Here is the inside of a bank. In the lower part of the screen we can see a person just collapsing on to the floor. This kind of collapse is rather common with this illness. When it strikes it hits you suddenly and strongly.

Video 7 – Policeman Collapse

Here's a police man that collapses in one of the police stations. All people who are out and dealing with the public are starting to see their ranks decrease and more and more members contract the illness.

It's horrible.

Video 8 – Street Collapse

The Western media narrative is that it only strikes the old and the feeble. It's amazing that they still maintain this fantasy. Especially the American media. Most everyone can contract this illness, and there are patients as young as ten months and as old as 95 years getting sick and ill from it. here we have a young chick getting struck down at a gas station.

Video 9 – Discovering you have the virus and being told you must go into isolation.

So imagine what it must be like. You are not feeling well, so you have some suspicions and you go to the the hospital. They run a few tests and then discover that you have COVID-19; the coronavirus. At first you would be in a state of shock and denial. Then you might panic and flee. You do not want to spend the time in the hospital. Like this poor girl.

Video 10 – Going into Quarantine.

And this is what it is like when you are sick and told to go into Hospital Isolation. You are collected and driven to an isolation ward. Then you are assigned a room, and some gear. The rest of your belongings are sterilized or incinerated and you are held there in isolation until you get better, or off to the hospital if you get decidedly worse.

Video 11 – The coronavirus hits suddenly.

This coronavirus is hitting everyone suddenly. You are just doing your job when suddenly you feel woozy. You start to wobble, and you get tunnel vision. Then the world goes black. This is what it is like.

But not to worry. CNN and FOX says the Flu is much worse.

Video 12 – Infected trying to break out of quarantine.

In this video we have a community that is infected. Large numbers of people have been taken into the various hospitals in the surrounding region. Those that remain were not tested to be sick... two weeks ago. But might actually be sick.

Here we have a fellow trying to run the gauntlet and escape from the quarantine.

Video 13 – Arrest for not wearing a face mask.

During this DEFCON ONE emergency you cannot go outside unless you wear a mask and are scanned for a fever. No exceptions. Everyone in China knows this. Yet there are those miscreants that think that the law does not apply to them and when they are refused to board public transportation they fly into a rage and cause all sorts of turmoil.

Video 14 – Refusing to go into Quarantine.

Here's a chick who was tested to have a fever. She wants to break out of the quarantine area and go her own way. She does not want to go into isolation. But the illness is so very serious that she does not have that option. So she is taken down and hauled off to the isolation ward.

Video 15 – The virus hits with a sudden ferocity.

This is what it is like. You are having a dinner. You drank a coke and ate some pork and suddenly you are not feeling well. While some people just get tunnel vision and black out, others just go into seizures and all sorts of bad things start to happen. Like this poor fellow....

Video 16 – Virus wipes out a hospital staff member.

Many hospital personnel are ending up catching the virus. It's a terrible thing and they are working long hours and tirelessly to fight this conflagration. But they can get sick, and when you start to see one of the nurses or doctors starting to wobble and lose control, you need to help them out quickly. This is a serious and lethal virus.

Video 17 – This is what it is like all over China.

This is how you go onto the public buses. This is how you enter your apartment building. This is how you enter your place of employment. This is how you enter public buildings such as police stations, hospitals or transportation hubs.

Everyone must wear a mask. There are no exceptions.

Everyone must take a temperature reading, and spray their clothing with disinfectant solution. Everyone must abide to the rules or you will get arrested. There is zero tolerance for non-compliance. PERIOD.

Video 18 – Pretty Girl

This is why it is absolutely critical to stay in isolation and not get this virus. You are getting ready to go out with your friends and suddenly you do not feel well. You have a seizure, black out. You regain composure and then have another seizure. Than you black out again. It repeats over and over...

But don't worry. The flu is far worse, don't you know. That's what CNN and FOX all are saying. You can go on Drudge and What-Finger-News and it's all the same MONOLITHIC narrative. Funny that! So believe them.

Or see the reality with your own two eyes...

Video 19 – Building multiple hospitals.

When I check out the comments on social media there's a bunch of detractors complaining about China-this and China-that. Oh, Xi Peng didn't do enough. Oh, the Chinese stole a biological weapon and is trying to kill their own people. All sorts of just bullshit nonsense. All of which is supremely irritating.

Donald Trump would not be able to build an emergency hospital in ten day, let alone three of them So shut the flying fuck up.

Check out this, the third hospital being built in Wuhan to help handle this emergency.

Conclusion

This is a serious illness. All evidence points of a biological warfare event. At least that is exactly how the Chinese government is treating it. While the American main-stream and (alt) media are all treating it as not as serious as the flu. Well, you you ever see the flu do what you see on these videos, then go ahead and make up your own post explaining to the world that this is a big ol' "nothing burger".

More to follow. Please be safe.
