

Learning about China by looking at exceptionally pretty and beautiful girls (7)

Here we continue with our exploration of China by focusing our attention on the ladies there. For the longest time, I have devoted my time to the Trump Trade Wars, DIY dimensional portal construction, the art that all ended with the progressive movement in 1913, and science fiction stories. Yet, I felt that if you don't take the time to "smell the roses"; meaning look at pretty girls and enjoy good food, you are truly losing out on what life can provide. Thus this post.

Again, just click on the picture to see the video. It should open up in a new separate tab. Depending on the internet traffic at your location it could be either slow or fast. Enjoy.

Here's another Chinese girl. She's in a pretty common type of venue within China called a "Tea House". There are traditional versions that are all wood, with a big table and plenty of ritual, and the modern versions that hold iced drinks and cakes.

This girl is quite typical with the long hair, the slim build and a nice tight and tidy chest. You will notice her almond shaped eyes and brown irises. Not only are these girls attractive, but they are very, very smart. I mean when you study calculus in elementary school.... Ugh!

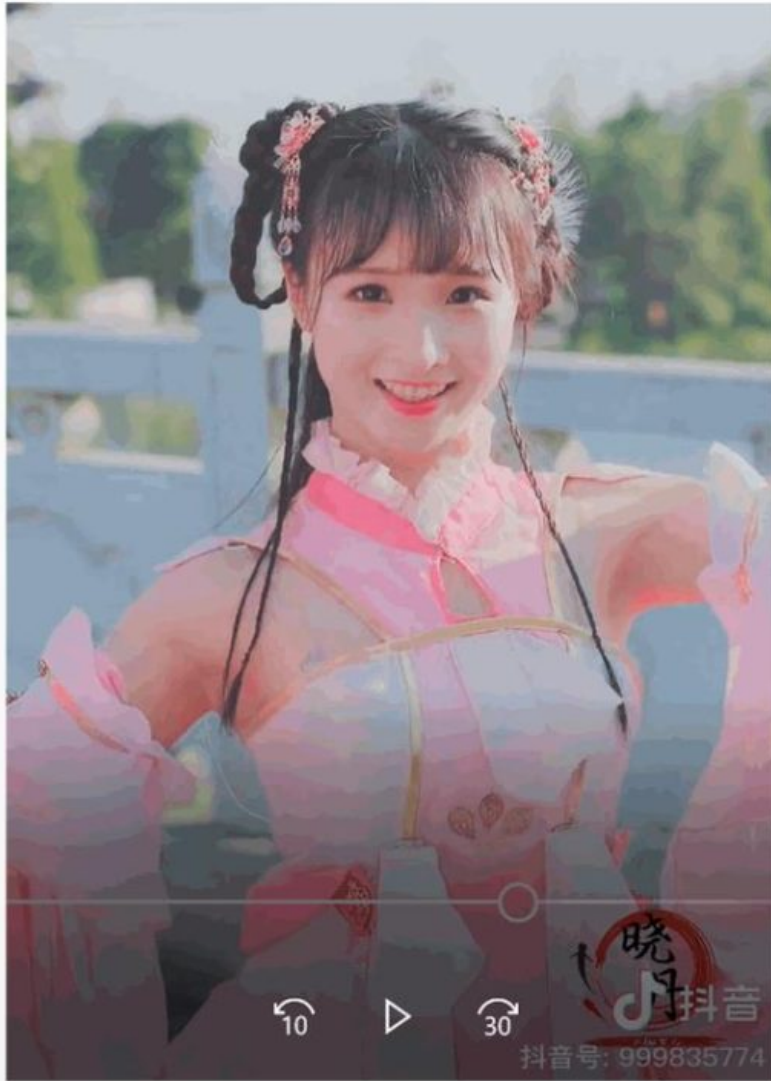

Another typical girl. I do like it when a woman dresses up, and puts on their makeup and goes out for a night on the town. But I also find girls, in their unadorned, un-fancied up ways, just as sexy. Here is a girl that I consider very attractive and sexy at the same time.

You might notice that this girl has had plastic surgery. Where? How? Well, look closely at her chin. See how pointy it is? Yes, that is perhaps one of the most popular cosmetic surgery procedures in China; to have a pointy chin. It is said to make the face more oval instead of round.

This lovely girl is having fun in a KTV. I guess that you could say that this is very typical. Though as far as a KTV goes, this is too well lit up. They must have turned on the lights for this video. But yeah. This is pretty much what it is like when you pick a girl out in a KTV lineup.

This girl is doing a kind of Chinese crossplay. The Han style of traditional clothing is very popular in China, and most weekends you will see a girl or two dressed up like their favorite soap-actor's character or two. I think it is absolutely lovely, and I like it a lot. My Chinese wife, thinks its silly.

Hey! Did you notice that there is the coronavirus thing going on? Well, yeah, and most people still are wearing masks even though China has pretty much suppressed this monster. Walking down the streets in long flowing silks is not all that unusual for a girl to do in China.

And this is what it is like when you are inside a KTV and your girl starts to sing. It's all pretty much like this. The people don't care whether or not you can sing, just that you are having a great time. If you look like you are having fun, the Chinese will love you for it. So go for it!

Here's another Chinese girl. She's doing the typical Tiktok dance to a short video clip. What I like about this particular girl is just how typical she is. The body proportions are just about the average for Chinese women. Of course, me being a human, like natural body proportions.

抖音

抖音号: dy4wj10i3nfg

Personally, I do love Chinese women in dresses. Heck! I love all women in dresses. I love how the material flows when they walk, and how cool and comfortable they appear. I especially like it when the dress fits them well, like on this lass. You can see that the dress fits her like a glove.

Have you noticed that in all these screen captures that there is a number in the corner of the picture? Yes, that is the Tiktok identification number for that girl, and if you input it into Tiktok's search box, you should be able to find the girl's feed. Except in the USA; they blocked some feeds.

Again, notice the common denominator with all these Chinese women. Nice long hair. Pale, nearly white, skin. Dark brown eyes. Oval face. Slim waist. Nice chest. Clean appearance, and not heavily adorned with bangles, jangles or other complex clothing patterns.

Another lovely Chinese girl inside her home. You might note the fake tree. Yeah, I think that it is strange too, but it's kind of a fashion thing these days, as is English writing on the wall that says things about Happy Merry Christmas and Love Forever. It's odd, but that's just China.

This Chinese woman has amazing eyes and look at that fine oval face. The long black hair, and the nice slim, yet busty build. It's all what China is all about. I seriously consider the lack of GMO seeds and the laws against hormone injections in livestock to be the reason why the girls are so pretty.

KTV girls in the age of coronavirus. Can you believe that these girls must wear this kind of headgear all night. It enables them to sing into the microphone, and so other (ahem) things as well. But you have to do what you have to do.

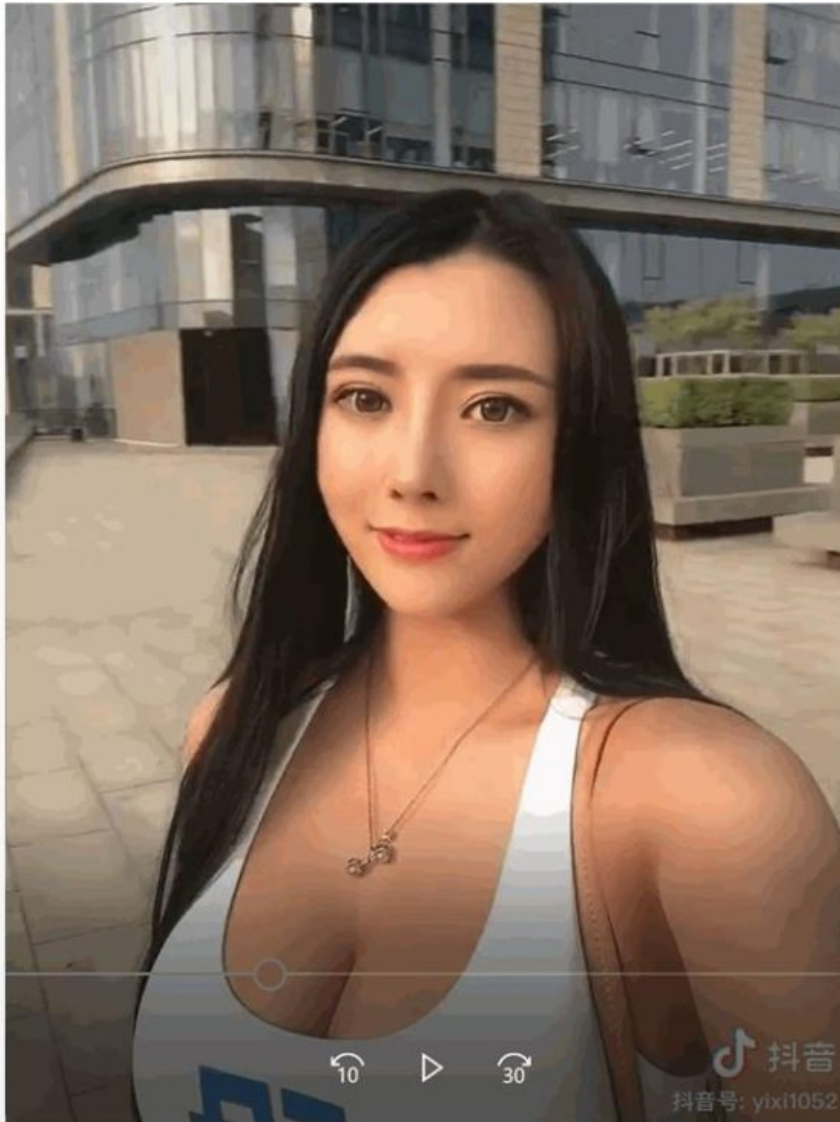

This is the body shape that is considered the Chinese “ideal”. It is known as a “fish shape”. The woman’s body is thin at the waist and has nice proportioned curves. Some of my long term American friends that I grew up with think that this look is “ok” but they prefer a “bubble butt”.

One of the big surprises for Americans when they come to China is not only how clean, advanced and beautiful it is, but just how “normal” it is. It has “toll booths”, elevators, and theme parks. Somehow the near constant barrage of anti-China nonsense omits these aspects of China.

Another lovely Chinese lady. This looks to be taken in either a KTV or a restaurant. These are always stylish establishments with a great deal of effort devoted towards decoration and attractiveness. Indeed, KTV's appear like something out of Hollywood.

Another beautiful Chinese woman. I would call her “handsome”, and I mean that in the greatest complement. She is very typical with the long hair, the black color hair with the brown eyes. She has an oval face and well proportioned eyebrows. Quite the charmer.

This is just a typical Chinese woman out at night. My guess is that she is in a parking lot, probably out getting some kind of BBQ or something. She's talking. And that is what is great about this video. Listen to her speak Chinese. This is a local dialect, and it varies all over China.

I just love this girl, and again, notice the typical Chinese features of long brown to black hair. Brown eyes, oval face. Pale and soft complexion, slim. Easy calm demeanor. Intelligent, and clean and easy appearance.

Here is a younger Chinese girl. Again, notice the calmness, the soft confidence and the hypotonic glaze. It's no mistake to say that I get mesmerized when I watch these lovely Chinese lasses walk. And you guys, had best be careful, the gals know this and will eat you alive.

And it is not just about how attractive these ladies are, but how traditional and conservative they are. They are smart and intelligent and very, very family oriented. They know the role of a mother and a father, and they know that men have responsibilities and needs and they take care of them.

Do you want more?

I have more videos in my Attractive Chinese Girls Index here...