

Learning about China by looking at pretty girls (6)

In this post, I am going to get back to posting some information about China and living there. In particular, I will post using a new format, that maybe you readers might find easier to use and more interesting. Gosh, I hope that you all will like it! This post consists of videos, short videos, of Chinese women. They are indexed by a static photo with a brief paragraph description.

Simply click on the picture that you are interested in, and a new window will pop up that will have the video of the girl. Most videos are under 15 seconds, so it shouldn't take long to download or to appear. Just allow the videos to load. If there is a lot of internet traffic, it might take some time.

The Girls of China.

Learning can be fun, as long as you are with a pretty girl to show you things.

Most Chinese girls have a pretty healthy build. While some are thin, and others are short. Most are curvy and have nice chests and slim waists. It is unusual to find a Chinese girl with a belly, or thunder thighs.

In China are all sorts of restaurants. They run the gambit to small and cheap street food to high-end establishments that cater only to Westerners and travelers. Here we have a pretty much typical Chinese restaurant where you are eating on a patio.

Up until the United States started force feeding hormones to increase the yields of meat (for profits), and GMO alterations of plants (for profits), most American women look like this Chinese girl. Today, American women are very fat and squat. No so in GMO-free Hormone-free China.

I think that girls are the same all over the world. They want to look cute and attractive. They want to show off their body, and their personality. They want to “stand out” from the crowd and attract handsome, hard-working, family oriented men.

China is a large, and enormous nation, and has a very extensive coastline. Up and down that coast line are beaches, and resorts and all sorts of recreational activities to serve a population that is easily four times larger than that of the United States.

When I was in Arkansas, the entire prosecuting team in North Little Rock accused me of traveling to China to engage in wild, crazed sex with women that looked like adolescent children. They told me that I could have this crazy life for the cost of a cup of coffee.

Girls like to be cute everywhere, and I find it remarkably alluring. Here we see a typical country road near a typical country field. Looks familiar, eh? Yeah. It could be in Pennsylvania, or Iowa, or Indiana or Southern New Jersey. People are people everywhere, and we share many things.

Another busty lovely. Believe it or not, this girl is considered to be “fat” in China. Yeah. I know. It boggles the mind, but there you have it. The foods are not saturated with growth hormones or GMOs that promote growth and getting bigger and fatter. So the body builds are human-normal.

Many people who visit China end up in the enormous cities, or visit the factory areas. They do not explore the housing developments, the smaller villages or the community centers. That is a shame, as they are actually quite lovely and livable. Here is one area with it's cobblestone road.

Indoor swimming pools are very popular in China. They are usually attached to a water park, with a nearby mall or shopping complex. You must understand that pale skin is considered attractive, so Chinese women do not want to get a tan or a sunburn. As these two girls can attest to.

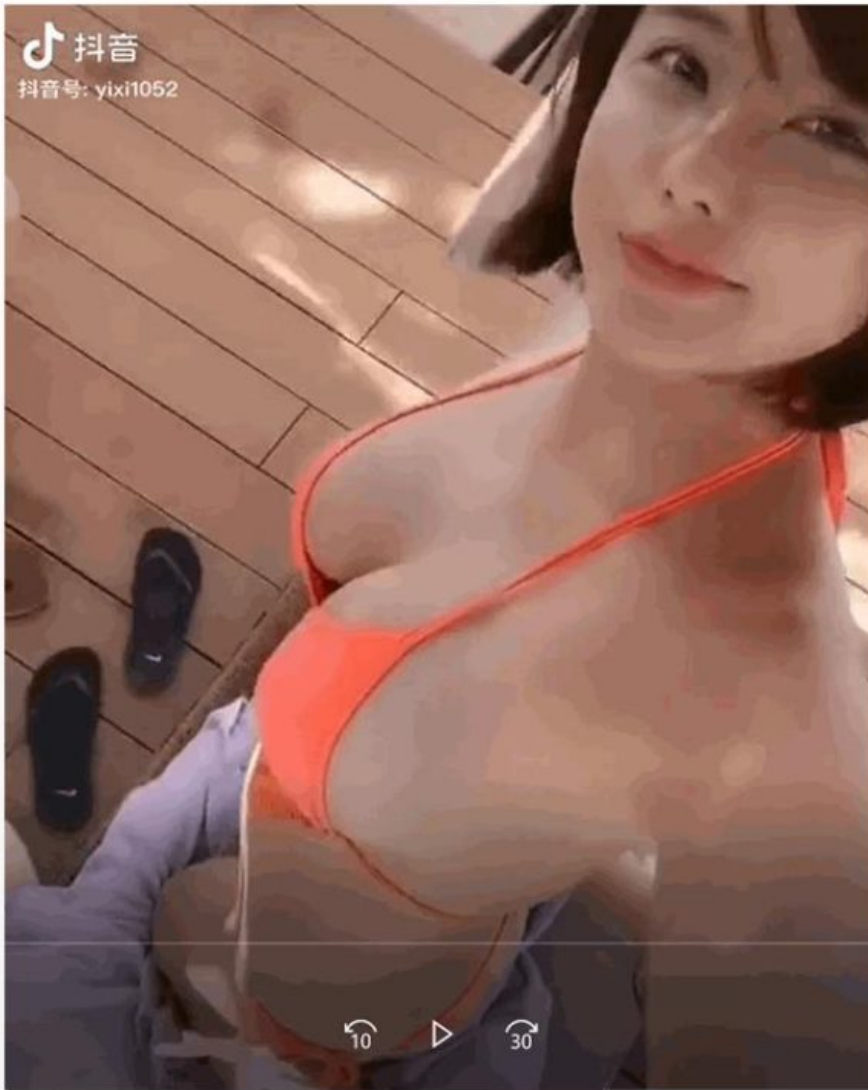

Most Americans are shocked that Communist China is so enamored with Christmas. But they are. The non-stop narrative of hate-China and that China hates Christians would certainly give you that idea, but it is false. The Chinese love Christmas, and celebrate it every year.

The Chinese are not as enamored with tattoos like Americans are. In general, a tattoo is considered to be unlady-like and not all that desirable. However, there is a movement in the cities where young women under the age of 25 are starting to have tattoos on their body.

This scene is so typically Chinese. China has so many enormous cities, and all of them have these enormous and tall buildings that it is just natural to go ahead and eat in a restaurant at the top of one of them. You might think that the view is of Shanghai or HK, but no, it's a smaller city.

Here is the obligatory bikini picture of an attractive Chinese lass on the beach. Where is it? Florida? Bali? Nope. None of the above. This is China. In particular, this is at Haihan island in the South of China. You know, the South China Sea where Trump is sending the Navy to “protect against aggression”.

This is another cute girl swimming. Note the mother (or grandmother) in the background playing with the baby. The Chinese do not like to have any darkening of the skin. Instead, they prefer to have it as white as possible, and thus will protect with hats and lotion..

Of course, with such an enormous nation, and a very large coast line, there would be all sorts of boating and recreational sea activities. You are thus able to engage in all sorts of watercraft and boating pleasures. And see many attractive girls in the process.

In general, I would say that while both men and women tend to work for the family, the entire family unit is traditional. That is a traditional conservative arrangement where the man is the head of the household, and the woman takes care of the domestic issues and finances.

What could be prettier than a lovely girl on a beautiful day in a field of flowers? Here we have a lovely lass that is playing around in just such a field. I'm not too fond of her short blonde hair, but it's a style thing and I tend to be "old fashioned" about these things.

This girl has what I would consider to be an “average build” for a Chinese girl. She greatly resembles the kinds of girls that I have met and interacted with in the rural countryside and smaller cities. You can see that she is “meaty” or healthy, but slim and attractive at the same time.

You might notice that almost all of the girls that I have posted about during this post have long hair. It's not intentional. Most women in China have long hair. They consider it part of being feminine. It is only the older ladies and those that live in the cities that embrace short hair.

This chick has a nice little following on Tiktok. She is in her 30's with a young kindergarten aged child. She has a following because she exercises and she has rather large boobs. You will find, as I have, that mothers with children tend to be at their peak in beauty and strength.

Yet another Chinese lass with long hair. While the most common hair is dark blue-black with brown eyes, I would say that dark brown hair is almost as common, with an occasional set of green eyes.

Three beauties. I like this video because the few seconds of video time aptly describes what it is like when you spend time with chicks in a KTV. You will see this in bars, in clubs and other adult venues.

Why do I like pretty Chinese girls? Because I do. I like to look at them, and be with them, and have fun with them, and play with them. I also like it when they give me massages. Did you know that “happy ending” massages are legal in China? Yup. It’s traditional.

Do you want more?

If so, you can have some fun in my China index here...
