

Metallicman discusses the absurdity of “Commander X”.

Let’s discuss others that have tried to make a buck off of the UFO, or Extraterrestrial issue. Let’s look at their motivations behind the creation of enormous amounts of disinformation that is nothing short of a fire-hose spewing out the most confusing and perplexing nonsense regarding our extraterrestrial benefactors. Here, we talk about some such person. We talk about “Commander X”.

We all have opinions of others. In fact, I have included memes regarding this characteristic of humans within this Metallicman blog.

The truth is that we shouldn’t judge others. We really shouldn’t, and that includes me. Yup, yours truly should NOT judge others. Those whom live in glass houses should not advocate throwing rocks.

There are those whom tread upon my “turf” and, naturally, I end up having opinions regarding them and the statements that they make. With this in mind, I wish to devote an entire post to an individual known as “Commander X”.

A person known as “Commander X” who claims to be an “insider” in such matters is a perfect example of how people can believe the simple narrative.

“Commander X is alleged to be a retired Military Intelligence Official turned author who writes about controversial subjects related to secret United States government programs. Commander X also released an

DVD which is compiled of a person with a blacked out face giving lectures. Critics say the sound effects made by the audience (coughing and clapping) are made artificial. Rumors are that Commander X is the same person as Timothy Beckley Green.

I neither support nor disparage the statements made by this individual. I am only commenting on them.

He just does not understand that the world is large and complex and that the relationships between people are governed by sentience. This person is an example of how a person can pick a political target and use it as their dartboard for blame. It is a very good example of how a non-insider can exploit the apparent reality and try to profit from it.

In truth, this clown knows “jack shit” (nothing) about MAJestic.

I use him as an example. He is a great example. I don't know for positive what his association is. I do not know if he is [1] legitimate (highly unlikely), or a [2] hoaxer, [3] disinformation expert, or [4] profiteer (probable).

I just do not know.

My experiences were of a very limited scope, and were not anyway as inclusive as the experiences that he claims to have been privy to. In any event, he has very strong opinions related to the Republican political party (RNC) and their relationship with the New World Order (NWO) and extraterrestrial treaties.

I strongly disagree with him.

The extraterrestrials that I have had contact with do not care one way or the other about American centric politics. They do not care if the person is a Democrat, a Republican, a Libertarian, or a Communist. They simply do not care.

(Can I make this any clearer?)

The extraterrestrial species that I had close, face to face, and physical contact with had absolutely zero interest in what I thought, felt, desire, cared about, or yearned for. They did not care about politics or the group behaviors of large masses of humans.

They did not care about it.

There is no massive secret and hidden agenda that some people allude to. Instead there are multiple agendas and objectives that various clandestine human groups work toward. The human race does not need to know about the individual efforts, nor the participatory members.

All that one needs to know and understand is that their own personal thoughts and their own personal actions define their existence. It defines their sentience, and sentience will determine their own personal evolutionary future.

My thoughts on this matter.

Just a mere glance at the prodigious quantity of books authored by this individual speaks volumes about who this individual is, their actual knowledge, true MAJestic association and their purposes. May I indulge the reader;

- MAJestic is compartmentalized. No one person knows the full details of many of the sub-projects and sub-programs. The prodigious volume of works for this author betrays the fact that he is neither from the top of the MAJestic organization, nor a working-level person.
 - Those at the top of the management structure only know executive summaries without extensive details.
 - Those in the middle echelon know substantial details of a very VERY limited range of subjects.
 - Those at the lowest levels know nothing except to perform their own unique and specialized task.
- MAJestic is secret. You have hardwired probes in your skull that prohibits memory recall. To have the abundance of memories that this individual claims would require the same kind of botched retirement sequence that I went through.
- MAJestic operates from a HQ located in another reality. This reality occurs on a different planet, at a different time, and in a different world-line. To access any of the information that has been so prodigiously published would mandate travel to the centers of control. This means portal access.
- The moment the first book was released, the person would have been tracked down and killed. There would not have been a second book, or any of the many many other books.
- Finally, any and all disclosures are at the behest of our benefactors and our "up-line" within our individual cell. The only way we can disclose anything is with their approvals.

Therefore, everything written by this author is to be considered suspect.

A criticism of this opinion.

Let it be well understood that “Commander X” has a following of believers. And they do not agree with my contentions.

“This is rich. It really is.

There is absolutely nothing that is different between this Commander X person and yourself. The only real difference is that he has a far better business model than you do. He is making money in his books, while you are just squandering away your nonsense for free (or at cost).

Your objections to this person only come from your failed profit model. Your writings about him is nothing more than a school-yard bullying. Face it, you and he are both the same.”

The mechanism.

The mechanism behind how a person can create a profit model through writing a large number of books is to tell people what they want to believe. No one wants to read that they are overweight and fat. Instead, they want to believe that a “miracle pill” will make you thin, young and youthful. No one wants to believe that America is falling apart and it’s government is terribly corrupt. They want to read about American “exceptionalism” and the wonderful “freedom” and “democracy” that they possess.

He capitalizes on this.

His subject matter is certainly interesting. He has made a science of vacuuming up the most popular of the “fringe” and “alternative” memes and subjects, added his own opinions, and fantasies and mixed it all up with some researched facts here and there to flush-out the body of his books.

He likes to rage on about the Powers That Be (PTB), the New World Order (NWO), and the “Secret” or “Hidden Agenda”.

Now, they do exist, but you all must know that there is no secret handshake, annual planning sessions, and ceremonial attire that they wear and engage in. They are in all actuality a loose collection of very powerful interests that are collaborative in nature with shared objectives.

But you all know this. Right?

And there are “overlapping” organizations that dance in and out of the PTB (or the) NWO such as MAJestic.

What he does is take these “known and well understood” realities and creates a fiction around them. It makes for great reading, and maybe some of what he writes is actually true. Some of it is certainly plausible.

One of his key “writing points” is the New World Order (NWO). It’s a globalist objective that has a modern progressive view of nations where there are no borders, but a sole centralized government.

There are other definitions, don't you know, but this is mine.

New World Order (NWO)

In a keynote luncheon at RIMS 2010, Nassim Nicholas Taleb, best-selling author of The Black Swan, told the story of a turkey who is fed by the farmer every morning for 1,000 days.

Eventually the turkey comes to expect that every visit from the farmer means more good food. After all, that's all that has ever happened so the turkey figures that's all that can and will ever happen.

But then Day 1,001 arrives. It's two days before Thanksgiving and when the farmer shows up, he is not bearing food, but an ax. The turkey learns very quickly that its expectations were catastrophically off the mark.

And now Mr. Turkey is dinner.

My experiences with extraterrestrials were entirely positive. There were no political motivations or influences that I was aware of.

All those who worked on the projects were loyal Americans with a moderate degree of patriotism and had no inclinations toward a New World Order or anything like that at all.

Even though we sometimes referred to the triangular symbology when contacting each other, the association with the New World Order is most likely coincidental.

Some of the people I worked with were very liberal in their political beliefs, while others were much more conservative in their leanings. (It was always a personal belief forged by one's own experiences.)

If anything, and this is speculation on my part; the NWO is a desirable end-achievable towards meeting the requirements as set forth by treaty by the Type-I greys.

Implementation will be problematic, and probably will not happen in my lifetime (I hope. I am not a big fan of it.).

I believe that as such, MAJestic has a vested goal in achieving this kind of one-world government to meet their treaty obligations with the Type-I greys.

Indeed, it is very important that for the human race to advance, in alignment with the goals set forth by the Mantid species, that we [1] incorporate a global wide governmental body with [2] a strong degree of control over the earth's population, [3] decrease the enormous pollution "foot print" currently accelerating globally and [4] stabilize our conflict resolution. The United Nations, as it stands today, is not sufficiently strong enough to meet the guidelines as established by the Mantids.

It just simply does not meet their requirements.

+ + +

The environment and world view by those truly involved in the MAJestic Umbrella is very, very far removed from the nuances and limited world view of a political machine that is earth-centric.

While many might have their own private thoughts, they tended to keep them to their selves. All extraterrestrial-related black projects are politically sterile. Don't get caught up in the narrow focus of those in power in America.

Apparent power. They are all "puppets" of the Banking (or powerful) global elite. Who are thus "puppets" of the more powerful extraterrestrial policing species such as the Type-I greys.

They are, generally, not involved in the MAJestic operation.

Ronald Reagan and George Bush aside, most presidents, elected officials (Senators and Representatives), appointed political appointees, celebrities, and popular stars are not involved in the MAJestic organization. They are but "window dressing" for the masses of human population to ease control over.

Truthfully, humans are a prized commodity; and must be treated properly and carefully. Selection of those whom interface and work with the extraterrestrial leadership is carefully done and strictly maintained.

Popular clowns; most presidents, television personalities, and pop stars are just entertainment. They have absolutely no bearing on the reality of the human condition, in a multi-dimensional quantum reality that is nurtured by Mantid extraterrestrials.

Conclusion

There are those that have created a for-profit mechanism from which to obtain wealth via capitalization on the distrust of Americans for their government. This includes everything related to UFO's, Extraterrestrials, wealthy elite, secret societies and such things as the PTB and NWO.

The person known as "Commander X" is one such person.

In itself, he and his writings are pretty harmless. Rather he creates interesting fiction to supply those looking for answers, and makes a few dollars in the process. He utilizes known situations (UFO's, PTB, NWO, and the Greys) and generates disinformation for personal profit.

The reader should beware of anyone who is trying to profit from the "extraterrestrial issue".

Why?

That is because, to have that desire to make money off of others (on this issue) is to be a 'Service to self" sentience. And MAJestic membership is limited to "Service to others" only. You can only be a Rufus if you are involved in MAJestic and extraterrestrial interaction.
