

Summer 2020 the rest of the world chills out while the USA falls apart and melts down.

Well, I am sure that most other sensible historians have seen the writing on the wall for some time. Yeah, verily the USA is in a state of reset. You might call it a collapse, a SHTF event (as I have) or a readjustment for much needed societal change. What is well understood that it is truly painful to watch. But, look at the good side, not that many people are dying from it. At least not yet, anyways...

Here, in this post, I want to remind everyone that the images presented to you via social media, television and radio are all lies, distortions and manipulations. Yes, I know that you all realize this, but I want to underline the fact that UNLESS you see it happening in your neighborhood, with your friends, and at your work-place, it is all not actually part of your life. It is something you hear about, and file away for future use. But, it is not something that you need to get too hot and bothered about. It's remote. It's distant. It's not your problem.

Yeah. That stuff and protests in Seattle... Why worry about it unless you are living there in that city? And those protests in New York city with the rioting and looting? Does it look like it is happening in your town? In your neighborhood? With others that you know and your friends? No. Of course not.

Yes.

The USA is going through changes.

Yes.

These changes will take some time to implement and the resultant American society will change.

Yes.

There probably will be some kind of “spill over” to your local region and neighborhood.

But...

Thoughts control our reality. Do not let the artificial panic, disgust, anger and turmoil tear into your calm and peaceful life. Do not allow it to intrude on you, your life, your family, your friends, or your business.

Look around you.

The world is a beautiful place. You can make it a wonder place. Be a good friend to others. Be the best friend that you can be. Be helpful, and know your local neighbors. Be assisting. Be kind, and above all be calm. Be the island of stability in a world that every day seems to be “tearing at the seams”.

The News “reality”

The news pumped into my daily feed is upsetting. From December 2019 up until mid-May 2020 it was a non-stop stream of “hate China” propaganda. Then from mid-May 2020 it switched to “USA protests and riots”.

Frankly I’m tired of it.

So does any of this “news” affect your life? Really? How does it?

At best, it’s a potential influence that might someday affect your family in some minor way.

So why worry about it?

An American Societal Readjustment

Societal change is coming.

Accept it. Roll with the punches.

That means know your neighbors. Be helpful and supportive in your community. Be stable. Be stable and calm. Be the leader that others look up to when the rest of the world seems to be completely “unhinged”.

I’ve said this before, and I’m going to say it again, over and over.

The human society will readjust.

A lead contributor is the United States, and at this stage it could go in any direction...

... from some minor, short lived, societal upset...

In New York City, supporters of the BLM (Black Lives Matter) march in protest alongside the Antifa anarchy movement.

In Germany in the 1930's, the SA competed against the SS for control of Germany. Here we have the SA performing a "peaceful" protest by preventing access to "culturally inappropriate" art.

In Germany, the SS line up in support of the Nationalistic policies of Adolph Hitler after the destruction of their key rival, the "SD".

... to full-on, full-scale World-War III.

The first of 200 nuclear warheads hits one of the major American cities.

Even smaller American cities could very well be uninhabitable after a joint Soviet and Chinese “double tap” in response to the Trump neocon activities.

It’s far too early to determine what will happen. Anything can happen. Absolutely anything, and knowing who is running the White House in Washington DC right now, you must hope for the best, but be prepared for the worst. Remember...

- Any war with China will be a nuclear war.

So, what will happen?

I do NOT KNOW.

I really do not. And to be honest, the PTB (in their many forms) don’t know either. In fact, it’s all kind of running away from their control. (There are rogue elements within the PTB circle, don’t you know.) And everything is gearing up for some massive (and exciting) events.

My Advice

So...

Avoid the cities.

Avoid the crowds.

Know your neighbors.

Be helpful and kind.

Watch over your family and control the little ones.

You and yours will all be just fine.

And I do mean that. The American news, and all those “International” news organs are all owned by the PTB. They want you to be in fear, easily manipulated, and corralled into accepting the behavioral lock-downs that they desire to impose upon you.

Do not permit them to drag you into a life of fear...

Stay out, and you define your life.

Unfortunately America will define the sentence selection

Ugh! I do hate to say this. But because America is so influential in the "West" it will have a sizable influence in what will happen in the future in regards to sentence selection.

At this stage in the game, June 2020, China while enormous, and a technological and economic competitor to the United States will also have an influence, but it will be what happens in America that will have the greatest impact.

Have you noticed that whatever happens in America is copied in the rest of the "Western World"? Right now as there are riots in the USA, we see the same kinds of behaviors in the UK, in France, in Germany, in Australia, and in New Zealand. Why?

It's that this particular group of PTB leadership are making this happen.

Meanwhile, the PTB in control of Asia are of a different mindset.

We are in the midst of a sentience restructuring at a global level.

And here is the breakdown...

Geographical Region	Sentience Break-down
	Service to Others	Service to Self	Service for Another	Disjointed Undefined
USA / The "West"	15%	60%	15%	10%
SE Asia	50%	30%	5%	15%
Russia	30%	45%	5%	20%
China	60%	25%	10%	5%
Ideal Preference
Type -1 Grey	0%	10%	90%	0%
Mantid	75%	0%	25%	0%
Type - 2	33%	33%	33%	0%

Breakdown of sentience by geographical region and culture / societies as of June 2020.

As you can see from the chart above, the Asian geographical regions have a higher percentage of "service for others" sentience in their population mix than what you see in the West. I attribute this to a long history of Buddhism, and a wide ranging selection of Asian belief.

Of course this does not match the "hate China", "China is the evil devil" narrative out of Pompeo's CIA and the Trump White House. But as anyone who has spent any time inside of Asia will attest, the society, at the local level, boils down to this mix.

In the West, of course, there is a majority that are “service for self” or the related “service for another” sentience. We can see this in the lootings, the followings for various political leaders from Trump to “The Reverend” Jessie Jackson, and such actions by Wall Street and those motivated by the Social Justice, and Climate Change special interests.

Of course, many who are “service to self” don’t look at themselves in that way. They consider themselves “open minded” and being helpful to others. But all you need to do is look at the physical actions of these individuals on television to see their “true colors”.

Non-human entities have their preferences.

I have listed them on the table as well.

I rarely discuss the Type-2 extraterrestrial class, but let it be known that they do NOT feel that the human species is really ready to leave our nursery and would prefer us to better evolve on our own and find our own path irregardless to what conflicts or upheavals might occur.

In all cases, the over riding goal is for a sentience selection of some overwhelming majority, with a near zero percentage of complex or confused sentience genders.

Once this happens we, as a species, will experience a major culling of the human species, and those survivors will have their RNA /DNA altered to meet and fit the needs of our benefactors / guardians. (I've discussed this elsewhere.)

So the bottom line...

The news is all an illusion. Do not get too caught up in it.

Remember, the news does not reflect the life you live and the world that surrounds you at this moment in time. Keep that in mind.

To Underline this fact...

Here is what the American news says...

This is my life right now. Does the American news media reflect, in any way, what I am experiencing right now?

Notes on the following videos

The following are some videos that I took outside where I live in China. The area is the business section of Jida, and the videos are taken during "rush hour". If you are having trouble watching the videos, just wait, or reload the page. Then you shouldn't have any problem.

The point in these short micro-movies below is that my life... in no way at all... resembles ANYTHING in the United States media. It's like comparing apples with pine cones. For me, and for the most part, for you the media is an artificial construction; a method used to control the viewing audience to think and act in certain ways.

Remember...

What you think about becomes your reality.

So here is my actual reality...

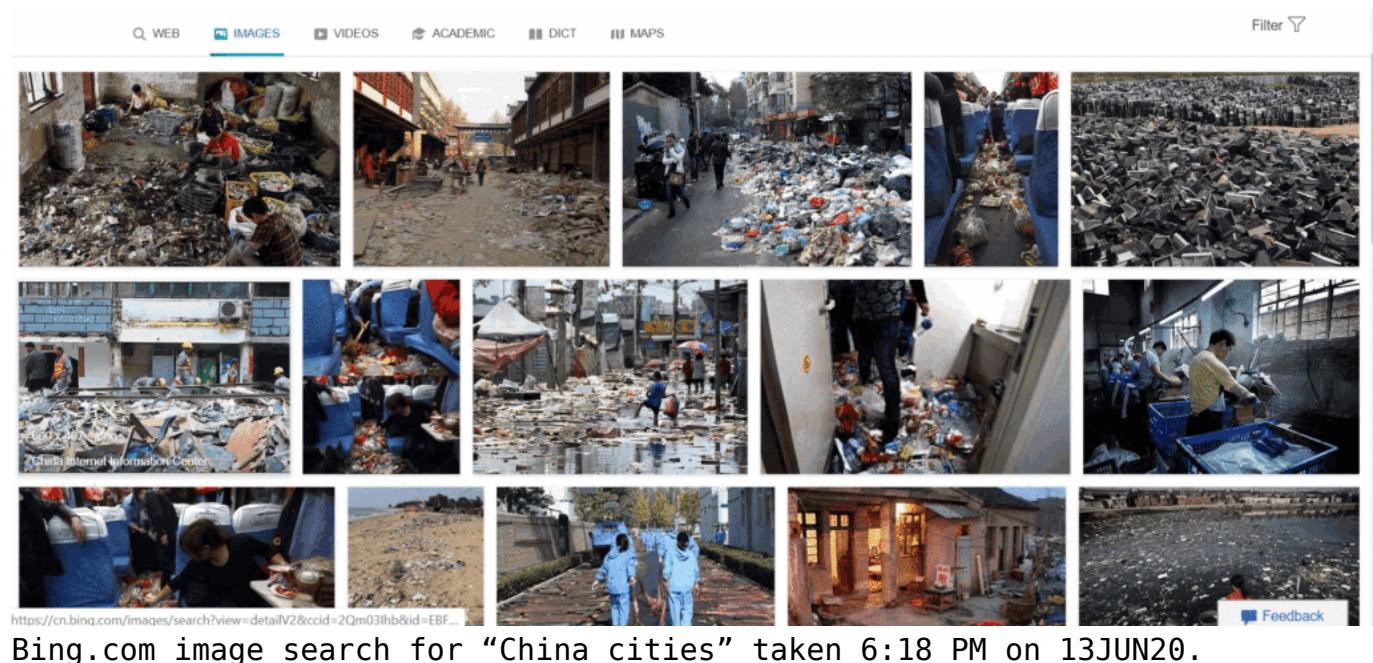

A bus stop alongside the main street.

Next to the “under way”. This is an underground road that allows pedestrians to walk from one side to the other without getting run over by traffic.

This is pretty typical for China. This is what my neighborhood looks like. Of course, bigger cities are different, as are smaller rural areas.

Not at all what you might think China is. Not from the United States media, that is. man, if you would believe the comments after nearly six months of hate-China fest, it's like there is a certain percentage of Americans foaming at the mouth to “teach those bat-eating vermin a lesson”.

Here's a Bing.com image search for “China Cities” ...

Does it resemble anything that I experience?

Nope not at all.

Why?

Is it because I live in an “exclusive” area for members of the dastardly Chinese Communist Party?

LOL.

Nope. Hardly. I live in a pretty average, low-middle sized Chinese city. I live in the normal local neighborhood, and not an “expat enclave”. And this is what it is like.

Notice on how all the pictures are shades of grey, black and dark brown?

What about other subjects. like “dogs in China”...

dogs in china

Dogs in China, American search engine Bing.com taken on 13JUN20. You would think that China is filthy, dirty and treats the dogs like some kind of rodent.

Again...

Notice the colors of greys, blacks and browns. All the pictures are gloomy and negative. When in reality, it looks nothing like this.

Now, let me remind you what it is like here in China, "for real"...

Middle School students going to eat lunch at home.

I will pretty much bet that this is the same where you all live.

Oh, maybe the uniforms are different, the road and buildings are different. Perhaps the signs and the language are all different. But the fact is that people, most people that is, live calm and pretty pleasant lives.

Most people. All over the globe.

While the “news” is filled with pictures that pretty much resemble this...

Image search from bing.com on America taken 13Jun20.

I will pretty much guess that your life actually resembles something along the lines of this...

Milford, Massachusetts.

Or maybe this...

American country home.

Or maybe something on the order of this...

Typical American suburb.

Notice the COLORS.

Are they shades of depressing greys, blacks and dirty browns, or are they in colorful and happy greens and blues?

Sanity Check

Forget about what the news people say. Forget about what the headlines report. forget the supporting elements.

Look at the pictures.

Compare the images, the colors, the impressions, the people, and the environment with what you see around you with your very own two eyes.

You should just simple compare the images that you see on the “news” with what you see with your own eyes of the world around you.

If they match, then maybe the news has something of value to you. If they do not, then perhaps you are getting inundated with a bunch of fear-mongering propaganda that has no bearing on your immediate life.

Conduct sanity checks often and daily.

The PTB are creating and cultivating an artificial reality

They are doing their best to herd mass groups of people into pre-determined thoughts and actions. None of which will generate a positive outcome. Indeed, the predicted outcomes will be social upheaval, economic collapse, mass starvation, illness and conflict.

It is intentional.

They have their reasons.

Some PTB members have honorable intentions, but deplorable methodology. Some have a limited and fixed mind-set, and their actions reflect their ignorance. Some are very intelligent, but lack the means and knowledge to implement their desires. Some are just simply powerful people with very evil behaviors. Some are just pawns for even larger and more powerful entities.

Does all this background information and details really help you personally?

Nope.

All you need to know is that things are happening and that it's causing changes in the world. Some of which might touch and broach upon yours. Just discard the trash and do not allow it to "suck you in".

You will be just fine.

Remember, during every societal upset, there are those that survive in relative safety and security. Some are preppers. Some live on the edge, and are mobile. Some are wealthy, and some are adaptable with a great network of friends in their local society.

I argue in favor of adaptability within your local neighborhood.

Conclusion

The world is NOT falling apart at the seams. It only seems that way.

The rest of the world is doing just fine, and it is ONLY the cities in America (and it's Western allies) that are experiencing turmoil, and the American news media is amplifying all this to create an environment of fear, distrust and chaos. Do not allow yourself to fall into that trap. It is a lie.
