

The Real Deal on China Prostitution

I found this on Daspora-ChinaSmack. It describes how an American got involved in the KTV scene and got tangled up with prostitutes in China. It's a good read, even though the spelling is atrocious ...

Also please take note, again, that this was not written by myself. It is the opinions of that author as he relates his experiences in regards to KTV's, girls who charge for sexual services and how it works.

You guys actually have all the facts but kinda lose sight of reality..

Ive been in china for years.. i have a regular blog but its a rated since i have a normal life i lead that is quite in the spotlight so to speak..but i actually want to write this down desperately..

i have anoher life in the north of china.

Its hard to explain, and sort of unbeleievable, even for me at times, but im going to go out on a ledge here since i cant change a whole nations opinion, but i can at least share my experiences with you folk and hope that someone listens...

Here it goes..

Im basically like a pimp...a real nice pimp, and i work in the ktv and security industry when im not doing my day job..and im a foreigner.

It sounds so different than it actually is though...

First off...let me just correct some wrongs and wrong some writes..

[1] They arent forced into ktv...

[2] The money is certainly theirs, only some goes to the mommies, but the cash they get in their hands is theirs.

[3] Not all are what we call "chu tai de", which means that go out, for sexs, The ones that do go out range from old and desperate with a pimp, or young and horny without a pimp and all the variations in between.

So remember..they are not all hookers..why would they be when there are saunas every other block with actual skilled sex workers?

What happened to me was that i started doing business with a guy that had a factory but was actually a gangster..or not even a gangster, where im from gangsters have guns and they are ruthless..

these guys are a bunch of semi successful middle aged men who have groups of young guys from anhui, henan, dongbei just buzzing around them with shaved heads gold chains and nike sneaks..

Photo is from a phone that was "found" by an interested person. On it were numerous photos of a mob boss and his crew. This is, we must assume, his crew. IT is representative of the kind of people that this article talks about.

They get paid to protect them from..i dont even know what..and they live in dorms like little goons working for the man, but hardly any of them can fight, and only if you have thirty of them with machetes to they actually become dangerous..

So this one guy i was doing business with is friends with a big ktv owner, another balding "gangstar"..whos got like fifty boys who all work security for the ktv..ud be surprised about how much they get used..So i became a relative lieutenant in the ranks of these boys, and the cheersing and the free ciggies never stop flowing from the ranks upwards..

I happen to come from a quite voilent upbringing and actually was a real little thug, petty shit though growing up in the ghettos of the states.. But unthinkable for some of these so called gees..so for me fitting in with this crowd was natural..although i myself have changed my ways, and i stopped to steal cheat or..well lets leave it at that.

So i gets hooked up with a ktv girl, my family is in the south of course, chinese wife kids, the lot..

Shes super young and she doesnt fuck for money..

She takes the 400 rmb a night and spends it pretty fast but takes care of her drunken father and grandparents..the mom is in sechuan somewhere and doesnt give a flying fuck..

So since i was being taken to ktv every night by the chinese bosses for like eight months, i basically would help her get paid..and help her to book the room, which they get perks for..she was damn hot, and everyone wanted to bang her, but no one knew she was actually just 17, standing taller than i, at 5'10.

Chinese mob boss with some of his staff and some KTV girls in a KTV. It's a pretty typical scene in China. Photos apparently came off a phone that used to belong to a "Chinese Mob Boss".

She was totally in love with her current boyfriend that had gone to japan, and was actually supporting him by working at ktv..but he was there..i was here..

basically though we hit it off because in this city i, was a foreigner , but i was doing business, and getting taken out by gangsters and business people every night..so ..basically she only started to like me because i wasnt just an english teacher, aka i had money, and i had friends that could help her if she got into trouble..

To make a long story short, i got an apartment, with four rooms, went back to the south, came back , and four of her gfs were staying in the house..

all known prozzies..even one that i possibly have done, i could never be sure if it was actually her, at any rate she never caused any grief with the lil missus..

little wife..xiao lao pou..the new mamasan in town.

Chinese triad gangster in a KTV with friends and some KTV hostesses. The drinks and the cigarettes flow easily.

Everyone in the city(in the game) started to hear that she was getting them business and shed get a cut..so in fact it was her who started the pimpstressing.. but later when my big bro found out, he told me to be careful and gave me the numbers to a few boys that would come if anything went down and i kinda took over in the protection area..

when a guy didnt wanna pay and kept a girl in a hotel room..suffice to say the ending was not pretty..for him, and i started receiveing extra income Going forward mor, and back to the conversation at hand ...its business..they all know what they are involved in and the cash is theirs to keep..

the cut to the pimp is actually protection fee, and its not nearly as exorbitant as it is in the states..

its actually pretty legit..most the girls are all pulled from the hometowns and some go on to open clothes and make up shops..which my ktv girl eventually ended up doing..

The nasty part is there though..and there are clients that want the girls to do ice with them before sexs..huge cost though and usually there are boys nearby..but then again, there are girls who choose to do that since in one night u can make four nights money..

Its strange i know..and i dont know exactly how i got involved , but i did..then theres a whole world of djs! That actually make almost as much as the girl but they only clean up and pour drinks!

Those are great to date..

also ktv s themselves range from nasty group sexs in the room to fucking 30000 rmb bottles of lafitte and all college educated girls...lafitte mixed with sprite...

Ud be surprised alot of these places the girls go to school, work on and off...its up to them, they get multiple males all paying things for them, which in my opinion...more power to them..they are not all bimbos and hoes..

thats were some of you are wrong..

they are not all slaves..

and the work can range from easy to difficult, sadly directly correlative with their appearances..

some ktvs you can grab them anywhere you want and the mamasans scream at them to be more open...others, the boys will come in and beat the shit out of you if you touch the wrong girl..in this case my girl..its wierd that people actually pay up and beyond a hundred usd just for the company but for their sake..thats their newfound cash culture...whether its right or not its too early to tell..

But then again look at our potato chip eating fatty couch surfing culture we have..that we basically got the same way. By being a developing nation that eventually has a bunch of people getting exactky what they wabt since they got the cash to spend..

U know the problem i see is that alot of foreigners cant and will never be able to see the real truth..

One, because ..im talking a minumum expenditure of over ten thousand rmb a night at some of these places...

And two, because to actually know if shes smart or not, or if she knows what the hell shes doing.. you have to be able to speak with her..and not conversational chinese..

Another photo of the mob boss inside yet another KTV. This is pretty typical for China.

im talking speaking in shanghainese for hours upon hours finding out what this person has up there..thats when you get the real picture..and sadly those foreigners are few and far between...im one of them, and funnily enough i never asked to be, but i have a nack for languages..and hustlin..

Just know that the ktv world is way more complex than it seems..

and that with everything in life stereotypes exist for a reason, but there will always be exceptions to that rule..

and in china..exceptions can be millions of girls who know exactly what they are doing and are taking advantage of rich mens horny tendencies and deserve a little more respect than most tend to give them.. I got a lot of respect for them gyals..

Oh and i fogot to say..i didnt know she was 17 either ! Hahahahah thing is i never comment, because i got funny grammar due to a lack of formal edumacation..and im always a bit scared of being misunderstood or laughed at ..never found something i really wanted to comment about until now...

Anyway...i know im no saint..and rereading this im wondering why the fuck i just said all that to a bunch of yall strangers..but thing is i think i got a pretty unique outlook round these parts..and i read diaspora and china smack allday..

Diaspora is funny though..cuz i feel like backwards diaspora..ive been here so long all my foreigner friends tell me ive become chinese..and i came here so young and stupid, that i basically grew up here..plus im not even fully american, so i dont feel american, thats for sure..and to top it all off i live fully chinese..to the point where people think im chinese?!

They all think im xinjiangy..its kind of weird..in the end ..chinese culture seems to go over the heads of the chinese so much that i would find it fucking hard for most foreigners or abcs or whatever to fully get it after a year or two or even five living here..

also its so layered...theres cultures for every class ..for every province for every city! Theres languages for fuck sake between cities..you can expect huge culture differences aswell..china reminds me alot of america actually..,just more open about there americaness than even americans..cheating lying backstabbing bribery violence prostitution drugs....

its what america was built on..yet know that weve kind of cleaned up certain aspects of our western lives we are here to point piss and shit in the general direction of the big red brother yeah? I dont know..its all fucked isnt it.

Summary

I do not want to offend anyone, but there are many people out there who are so easily offended. There is nothing that I can do about it. It is not my concern if someone has never left childhood. They too will eventually face the harsh slap of reality. It's not my role, or my desire, to take on that role.
